2. Your first steps at UAL

Back to contents

Your first steps at UAL are important. Here is a quick reminder of some of the things you should bear in mind during your first few days at the University of Almería.

Your Virtual Campus Login Details

More info

When you enrolled, you used a username and password. These are very important, so we recommend keeping them safe, as you will need them to access UAL's various online services, including the Virtual Learning Environment and your institutional email account. We refer to these login details as your Virtual Campus Login Details.

Your username will remain the same throughout your time at university. For security reasons, you must change your password every six months. Your Virtual Campus login details are essential for checking your academic record, applying for scholarships and grants, booking appointments with different services and accessing the materials uploaded by your lecturers to the Virtual Learning Environment. They are your key to accessing UAL's online services.

Your Enrolment Confirmation

It is important to check and save your enrolment confirmation to make sure that all the information is correct, including the modules you have selected and the fees payable. You may also need this document to obtain discounts on public transport or to provide proof of your student status. If you did not download your enrolment confirmation when you enrolled, you can download a copy from your Virtual Campus.

Your Virtual Campus

campus.ual.es

Your Virtual Campus is the platform where you can access your academic record, book spaces in the Library and consult information relating to your studies. It gives you access to a wide range of online services at the click of a button. Make the most of it, as it provides useful services that you will need throughout your time at university.

2. Your first steps at UAL

Back to contents

Your UALCLOUD Account

 www.ual.es/ual-cloud

UALCLOUD gives you access to a range of Google communication and collaboration tools specifically designed for educational environments (Google Workspace for Education) and customised for UAL. You will have access to a full range of applications, including institutional email through Gmail, cloud storage and collaborative file editing with Google Drive, an online calendar, messaging, calls and videoconferencing for up to 15 participants, and much more. All you need to do is register and create your personal UAL email account.

UAL Wi-Fi Network

UAL's Information and Communication Technologies Area provides a wireless network with coverage throughout the campus, allowing you to stay connected and making it easier to work and study. The Eduroam network not only allows you to connect to Wi-Fi on the UAL campus; it is an international network used by many universities and research institutions around the world.

As a member of the UAL community, you can connect to the wireless network at any institution participating in Eduroam. You will not need to complete any additional registration procedures at the host institution: you simply need your email address and password.

Virtual Learning Environment

 aulavirtual.ual.es

This platform will provide online academic support throughout your time at university. Here you will find materials for your different modules, take part in discussion forums and contact both your lecturers and fellow students. You will also find your weekly timetable and announcements from the lecturers teaching each module.

All UAL modules combine face-to-face teaching with support through this platform (Blackboard Learn).

From September, you will have access to the online courses for the modules in which you are enrolled. You will also have access to the course "Getting Started as a Student in Blackboard Learn", which includes a user guide and video tutorials explaining how to use the platform.

This tool will be extremely useful throughout your studies, so we recommend familiarising yourself with it and making the most of everything it offers.

RECTOR'S OFFICE

The Rector is the University's highest academic authority and appoints the Vice-Rectors responsible for specific areas. The Rector is elected by the University community.

GOVERNING BODIES

UAL's governing bodies set the University's strategic direction and work towards its established objectives. However, the most important decisions are taken democratically by collegiate bodies – that is, bodies made up of different members of the University community – in which all groups at UAL have a voice.

VICE-RECTORATES

COLLEGIATE BODIES

Governing Council

Together with the Rector and the members of the University's governing team, the Governing Council is responsible for the governance of the University. This is where some of the most important decisions affecting your day-to-day university life are taken. Students are represented on the Governing Council and can therefore bring their concerns and interests before it.

University Senate

The University's highest representative body for the entire University community. It includes representatives of academic staff, students and Technical, Management, Administrative and Services Staff (PTGAS).

Social Council

This is the body through which wider society participates in the University. It is made up of members of the University community and representatives of society as a whole. It takes decisions on matters including University budgets, fees for non-official courses and student progression regulations.

Your faculty or school at UAL

Teaching, study and research take place within UAL's Faculties and Schools. Your Faculty or School also has democratically elected governing bodies representing academic staff, students and Technical, Management, Administrative and Services Staff (PTGAS).

Each Faculty is managed by a Dean's team or, in the case of the School of Engineering, by a management team, headed by the Dean or Director. Its members are academic staff elected by the University community to take responsibility for specific areas organised into Vice-Dean's Offices or Deputy Director's Offices. You can find information about these in the governing bodies section of your Faculty or School website.

University Departments

www.ual.es/universidad/departamentos

Departments are responsible for teaching within UAL's Faculties and Schools. A Department is made up of a Head of Department and a group of lecturers belonging to one or more Areas of Knowledge. Each Department organises teaching, study and research within its academic field and coordinates the teaching of all modules associated with its Areas of Knowledge.

Student Representation

Student Representation

Students are represented on all the University's collegiate bodies, both at central level and within Faculties, Schools and Departments. Student representatives are elected by the students themselves. These representatives are your voice, so it is important to take part in their election. They will bring your views, concerns and interests to the University's different governing bodies.

Degree Tutoring

Organisation Regulations >

The main resource for supporting and guiding students enrolled on UAL degree programmes is Degree Tutoring. Degree Tutoring forms part of the tutorial support established in the University of Almería's regulations governing the organisation and coordination of undergraduate and Master's degree programmes. It gives you access to a Degree Tutor who can support and guide you during your first year at university. Degree Tutors are lecturers on your degree programme who can give you an overview of your studies and support you as you begin your degree. Make the most of their availability whenever you have questions and contact your tutor if you need advice about your degree.

It is important to take advantage of this opportunity at the beginning of the academic year, as you must ask your Faculty or School to assign you a Degree Tutor.

Faculty/school management and degree coordination teams

Each degree programme has a coordination team made up of Year Coordinators, the External Placements Coordinator and the Degree Coordinator. This team works with the Dean's Office or management team of your Faculty or School to resolve issues specific to your degree programme. If you have any academic questions or difficulties, you can contact your Degree Coordinator or Year Coordinator. These coordinators are lecturers who teach on your degree. You can find their contact details in the "Coordination" section of your degree webpage.

See full details for each degree programme here >

Module tutorials

All the lecturers teaching your modules have specific office hours set aside for student tutorials. We encourage you to make use of these tutorials to get the most out of your academic studies.

Guided by the principles of justice and equality, the Unit develops educational programmes and campaigns to raise awareness of gender equality, combat gender-based violence and actively remove barriers and biases that may exist within our university community.  Back to contents

UAL encourages students to participate in its collegiate bodies, as your voice and your ideas are essential to ensuring participatory, high-quality university governance. Any student can be elected by their fellow students to serve on these bodies, from acting as a Course Representative to becoming a member of a Faculty or School Board, a Department, the University Senate or UAL's highest collegiate governing body, the Governing Council.

 www.ual.es/vida-universitaria/representacion-estudiantil

COURSE REPRESENTATIVES

At the beginning of the academic year, UAL holds elections for Course Representatives, giving you the opportunity to stand for election and represent the concerns, needs and problems of your fellow students.

It is a rewarding way to get involved in university life and take part in the decisions made within your Faculty or School. And you will not be doing it alone: you will also have a Deputy Representative to support you in your role.

FACULTY AND SCHOOL STUDENT DELEGATIONS

The Student Delegation of each Faculty or School is made up of all students who hold representative positions within that Faculty or School. This includes Course Representatives, student members of the Faculty or School Board and student members of the University Senate.

Any issues or concerns affecting students in your Faculty or School can be raised and addressed through your Student Delegation. You will also have the opportunity to play an active role in your Faculty or School, from welcoming new students and organising courses, activities and events to representing your Faculty or School in other areas of university life.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The Student Council (CEUAL) consists of 32 students representing UAL's eight Faculty and School Student Delegations. Each Delegation elects representatives to the Student Council, both to raise issues affecting its own Faculty or School and to put forward and defend proposals affecting the student body as a whole. Its responsibilities are wide-ranging and affect all UAL students in areas such as examination regulations, student progression regulations and the right to call student strikes. It is the highest student representative body at the University.

DID YOU KNOW?

Your participation in any student representative body — from serving as a Course Representative to being a member of the Student Council — can be recognised through optional credits. These credits recognise both your involvement and the skills and knowledge you acquire through university governance and student representation. Your experience as a student representative can therefore also be formally recognised in your academic record.

6. Get involved, have your say and stand up for your rights

Back to contents

UNIVERSITY OMBUDSPERSON

More info

The University Ombudsman is responsible for safeguarding and defending the rights of all members of the university community. It is important to bear in mind that the Ombudsman only intervenes once the University's established channels for resolving an issue have been exhausted. This is why you should first contact, depending on the nature of your problem, the Central Administration Office, your lecturers, the Head of Department, your Degree Coordinator and/or your Faculty or School management team. The Central Administration Office can advise you on the appropriate procedure to follow.

If you have followed the appropriate administrative procedure and your problem remains unresolved, you can then contact the University Ombudsman's Office. You can also contact the Office by email: defensor@ual.es

The University Ombudsman's Office deals with enquiries, complaints and claims and provides mediation and conciliation procedures to help resolve disputes.

SERVICE INSPECTORATE

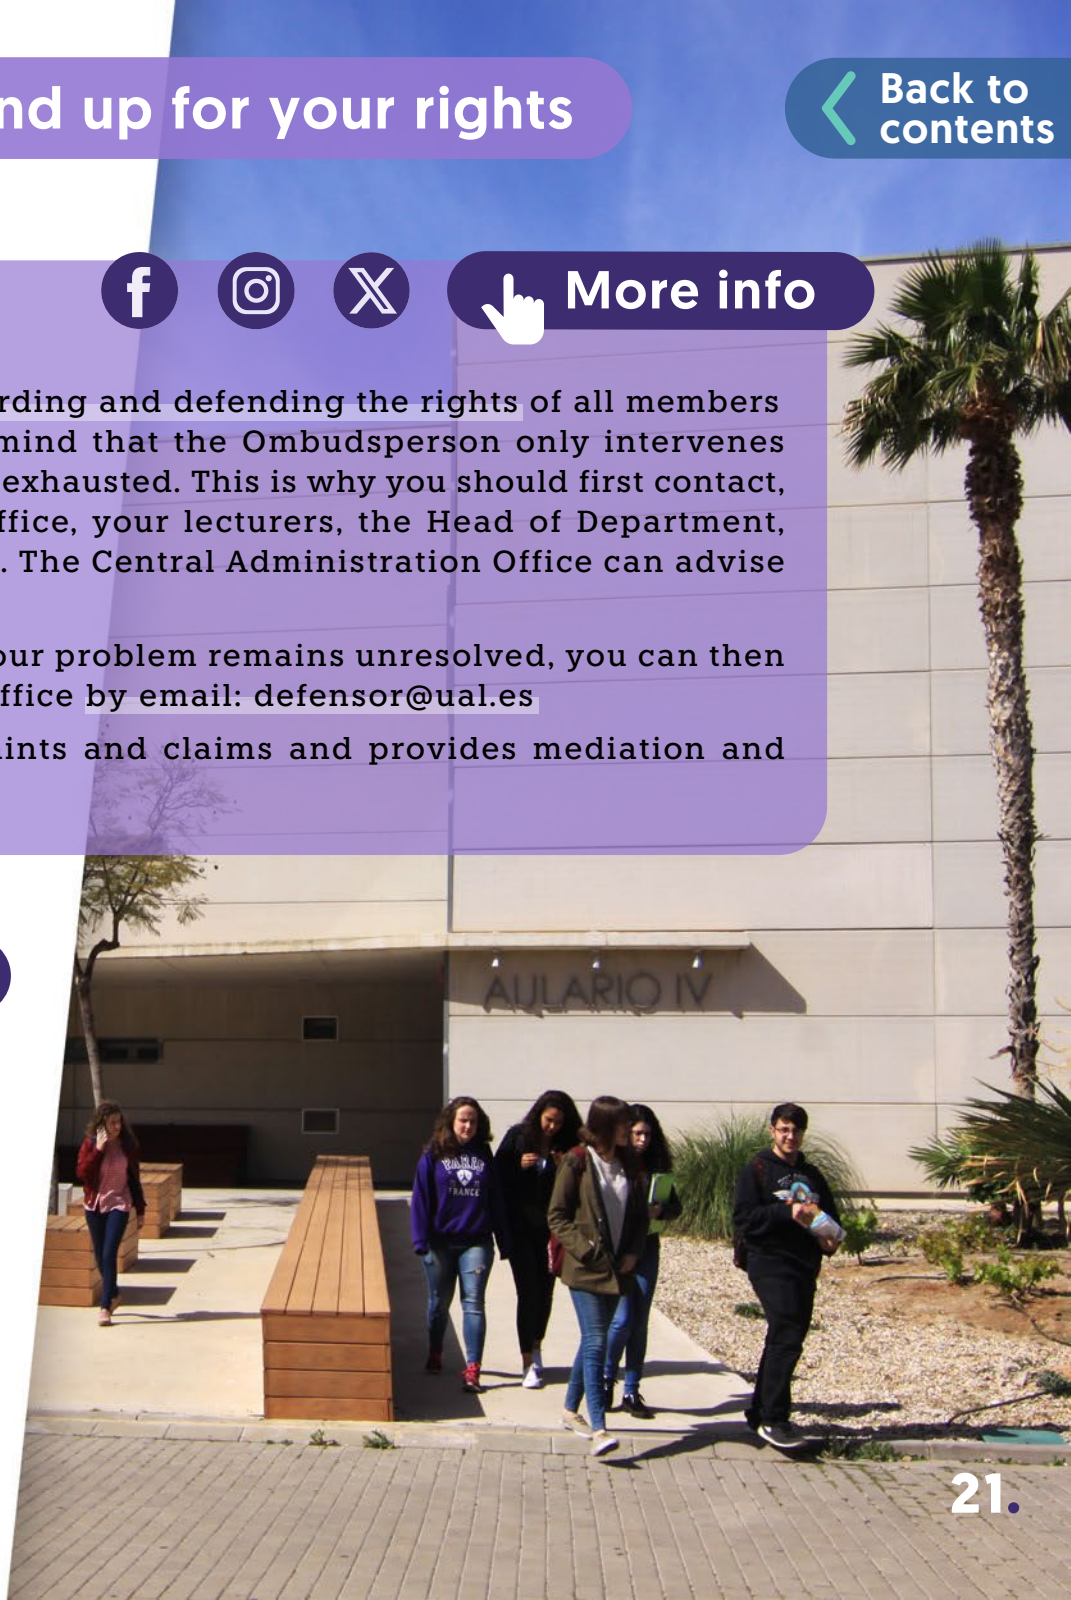

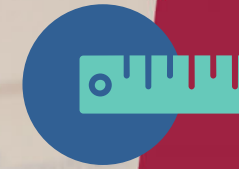

More info

The Service Inspectorate is responsible for ensuring the proper functioning of the University of Almería's services and monitoring teaching schedules and teaching obligations, among other duties.

Its fundamental role is to ensure that the rights enjoyed by all members of the university community are compatible with the responsibilities that are also part of university life.

If at any point you believe that a University service has not functioned properly, or that a member of the university community is failing to fulfil their obligations, you can contact the Service Inspectorate.

What is Erasmus+, and what does studying abroad involve? It means broadening your education, discovering what you want for your future, gaining self-confidence, developing new skills, making friends, building professional contacts and enjoying an experience that those who have tried it often describe as one of the best of their lives.

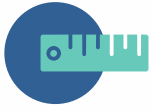

Our International Relations Service works hard to ensure that you have opportunities from your very first day on campus. You will be surrounded by 854 students from 46 different nationalities. More importantly, you can study or undertake work placements in countries across Europe and the rest of the world at one of our partner universities. UAL has 907 agreements with 528 institutions in 65 countries.

This means that, whatever you study, you can spend one or more semesters of your degree abroad — in Korea, Canada, Germany, Finland, Brazil, France and many other destinations.

We also know that studying abroad can raise concerns or doubts. For example: “You need a lot of money to go on Erasmus+.” Not necessarily. Depending on the student and the funding available, you may receive more than €1,173 per month. “My English isn’t good enough.” A certified B1 level is enough to get started. And 90% of students improve their language skills during their stay, usually after a very short adjustment period. “I’ll miss my friends and family too much.” In the 2024/25 academic year, 483 UAL students studied abroad through one of our programmes, and none of them returned home early. A sign that they were enjoying the experience? You will have to find out for yourself.

Explore the world. Erasmus+ is for everyone.

YOUR NEXT STEP TOWARDS YOUR PROFESSIONAL FUTURE

The Vice-Rectorate for Postgraduate Studies and Institutional Relations is responsible, among other areas, for supporting the university community, employers, public authorities, jobseekers and wider society through specific guidance, work placement, entrepreneurship and employment services. Its work is based on continuous improvement and social responsibility towards people, the environment and the resources available.

Through the Employability and Social Policy Service and the University of Almería Foundation, UAL works to enhance the employability of students and graduates through the following programmes:

WORK PLACEMENTS:

The aim is to give you your first experience of the workplace through a placement lasting no more than six months.

- Curricular placements: academic activities forming part of the degree programme you are studying.
- Extracurricular placements: voluntary placements that you can undertake during your studies. Although they have the same general objectives as curricular placements, they do not form part of your degree programme. They provide valuable professional experience that can help you enter the labour market.

CAREERS GUIDANCE:

Through careers guidance, you will receive support throughout your journey towards the labour market, with specialist information and advice at each stage.

Employability and Social Policy Service

ENTREPRENEURSHIP PROGRAMME:

This programme provides comprehensive support to members of the university community with an entrepreneurial mindset who are interested in creating their own employment, whether through self-employment or another legal business structure.

Entrepreneurs are offered advice and support to help turn their business ideas into reality. Fancy giving it a go?

EMPLOYMENT AGENCY:

The Agency's main objective is to help you find employment by working with businesses and identifying vacancies that match your profile. At the same time, it supports employers by identifying suitable candidates for their vacancies.

A SUSTAINABLE AND HEALTHY UNIVERSITY

More info

The University of Almería, through the Vice-Rectorate for Sustainability, Health and Sport, is firmly committed to tackling climate change and protecting the environment. For this reason, a Sustainability Action Plan is drawn up every year to address challenges in areas such as mobility, energy, sustainable waste management, sustainable procurement, efficient water use, urban planning and biodiversity, the promotion of good environmental practices and environmental impact assessment.

We also organise awareness-raising activities, including Amboblitz, Recapacicla workshops and Urban Biodiversity Days. We promote the use of renewable energy through charging points for electric and plug-in hybrid vehicles. We also have an internal cycle path running throughout the campus and connecting with the city's cycling network. Campus gardens have also been improved – including the Mathematics, Aromatic, Culinary and Medicinal Gardens – together with additional information panels to help visitors discover and understand them.

Everyone in the University community can take part in these sustainability initiatives and suggest new actions to help improve our biodiversity and environment. And don't miss our Health Promotion and Education activities, which can help you adopt healthier habits and lifestyles in areas such as nutrition, physical activity, mental health, sexual and emotional education, the prevention of harmful habits and road safety, all with the aim of improving your quality of life. We also have a Psychological Support Unit, where we can help you if you are going through a difficult period in your life:

STUDENT SOCIETIES

More info

Joining a society is a way of combining efforts and sharing common interests through collective action. Your time at university gives you the opportunity to meet a diverse range of people who share your interests and concerns and, by working together, can help you achieve your goals.

There are currently 14 student societies covering areas as diverse as the promotion and representation of specific degree programmes, role-playing games, culture and the humanities, and environmental protection. One of them might be just right for you.

You can choose to join an existing society or set up a new student society to bring together other young people who share your interests, values and commitment. UAL will support your initiatives by helping you organise events or fund your activities. You may also have the opportunity to use dedicated premises and facilities where you can meet and work towards your goals.

VOLUNTEERING

More info

UAL has a Volunteering Programme that can help you become a volunteer with one of the more than 35 organisations taking part in the programme. These organisations work in areas including disability, the environment, children and young people, vulnerable groups and health, among others. Their work helps improve the quality of life of individuals and communities while contributing to the conservation and sustainability of our environment.

You will gain a better understanding of the realities around us and become part of a network of people committed to solidarity, diversity and social justice, while acquiring and developing valuable personal and professional skills.

“Many small people, in small places, doing small things can change the world” (Eduardo Galeano).

Do your bit to help change the world! If you are ready to commit to building a better world, this is your opportunity.

DEBATING AND PUBLIC SPEAKING

The world of debating is not only exciting: it can also open doors to your professional future and contribute to your personal development.
Shall we debate it?

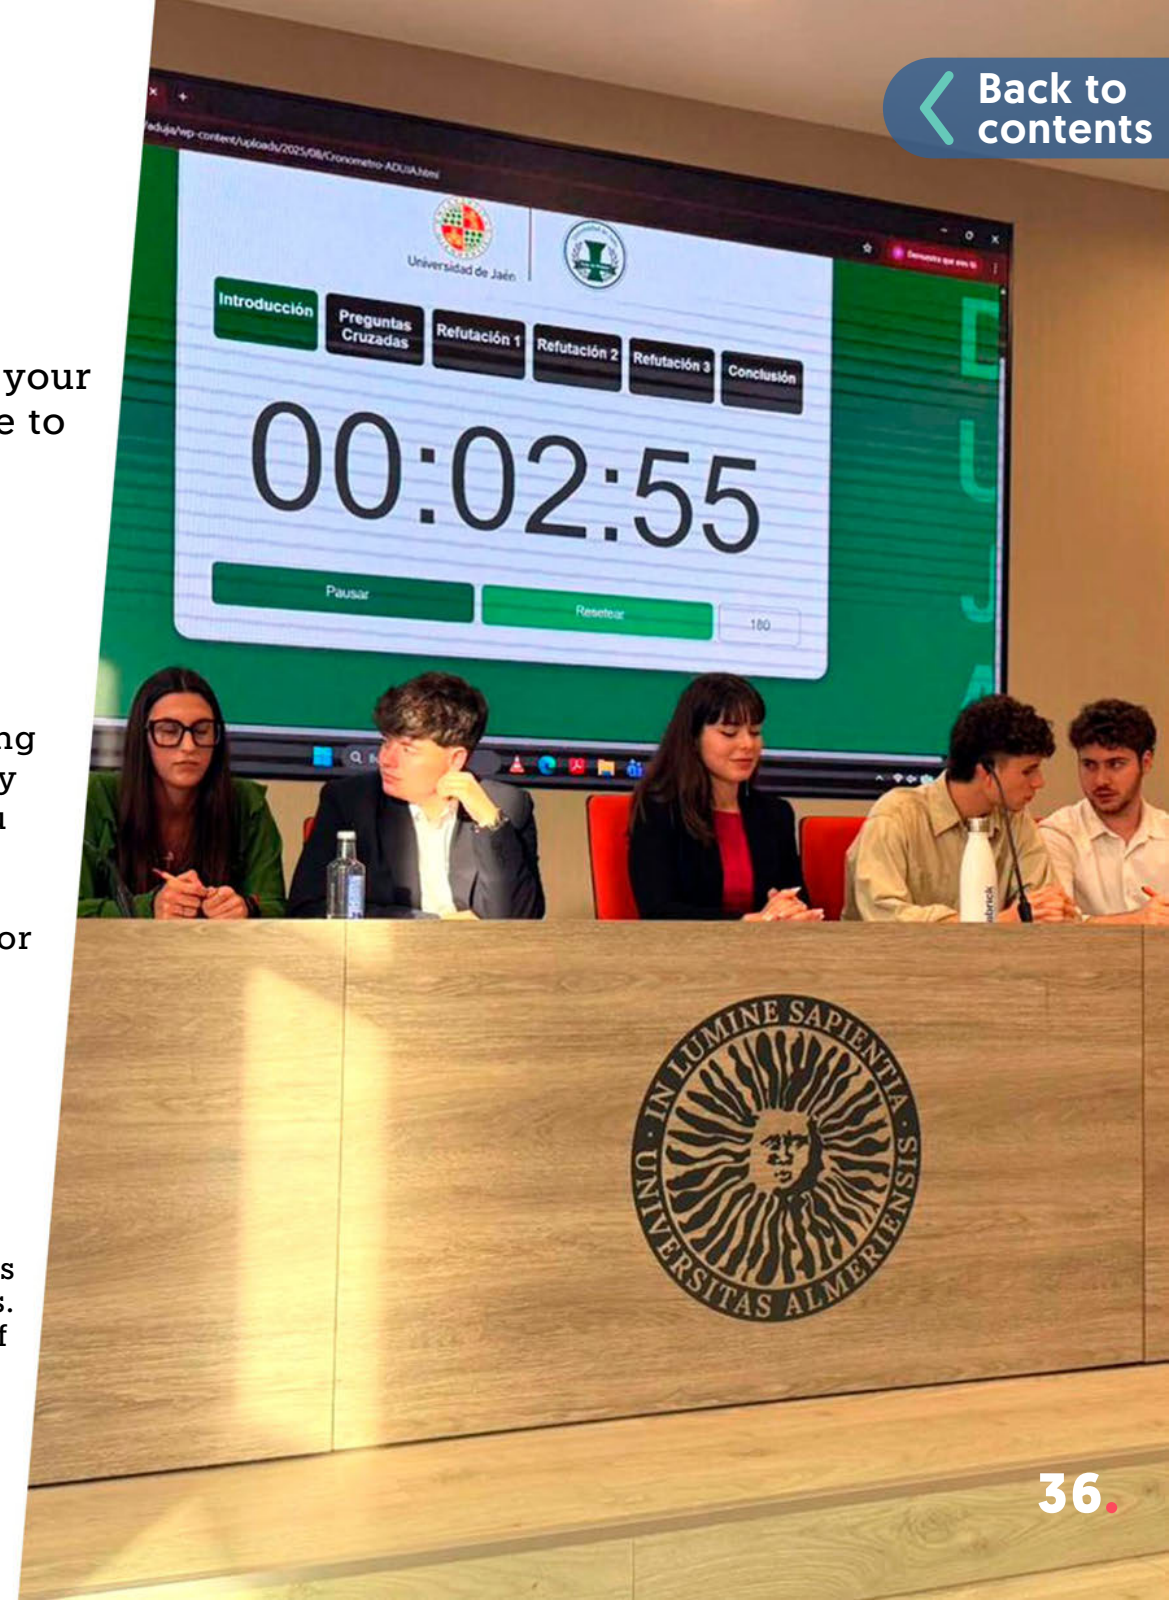

UAL's Debating and Public Speaking Club focuses on developing two fundamental skills: public speaking and critical thinking. These two skills must go hand in hand. The aim is not simply to produce persuasive talkers, but to develop critical citizens capable of addressing the challenges of the world today. The Club gives you the opportunity to learn and put your communication skills into practice, helping you argue your case and defend your ideas, opinions and projects effectively. If you are interested in university debating, you can also take part in our Debating League and represent UAL at national and/or international university debating tournaments.

TRANSPORT

The University campus is approximately 7 km from Almería city centre, but getting to university every day is easy, with several options available. You can combine exercise with helping the environment by cycling to campus each morning, or use public transport with your classmates. If you prefer to travel by private vehicle, you can use any of the car or motorcycle parking areas available on campus. UAL is connected to the city by a cycle path that takes you right into the centre of Almería. The route runs alongside the beach and the mouth of the River Andarax.
